

With the Vodacom Super 14 season over and the Cape Town test match a thing of the past, there is a very little rugby action currently for fans to enjoy. Old Fashioned Fish and Chips however gave the public the opportunity to meet some of the stars from this year's historic Super 14 campaign at the opening of their new store in Strand Street.

Old Fashioned Fish and Chips was established by Emilia De Souza in 2001 and was created in the image of her late uncle Alfredo's classic old style Fish and Chips stores that were a standard throughout South Africa. Old Fashioned Fish and Chips mission is to "to bring back the old "on the corner fish and chip store" that we all loved, but with that added warmth of a smile, service along with implausible quality & pricing."

On Saturday 19 June members of the 2010 Vodacom Stormers squad officially opened the Old Fashioned Fish and Chips 100th outlet and were available to meet all the Stormers fans who join them
